They begot four children and named them Charles, Anne, Andrew and Edward;

WHEREAS, at the age of 25, Princess Elizabeth succeeded her father King George VI as the 40th monarch of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland on 6 February 1952, when Britain was emerging from the ravages of the Second World War, with food rationing still in force and class and privilege still dominant in society;

WHEREAS, Queen Elizabeth II was the head of state of not only the United Kingdom but also of Australia, the Bahamas, Belize, Canada, Grenada, Jamaica, New Zealand, Papua New Guinea, Saint Lucia, Saint Kitts and Nevis, Tuvalu, the Solomon Islands, Saint Vincent and the Grenadines, and Antigua and Barbuda;

WHEREAS, during her reign that lasted 70 years, Queen Elizabeth II witnessed massive political change and social upheaval at home and abroad. She remained an enduring symbol of stability and continuity for the British people at a time of relative national economic decline. Queen Elizabeth II also tried to adapt the ancient institution of monarchy to the demands of the modern era;

WHEREAS, the formal diplomatic relations between the Philippines and the United Kingdom were established on 4 July 1946 during the reign of Queen Elizabeth II's father, King George VI, and since then, the two governments have worked tirelessly to foster stronger political, economic, cultural, and people-to-people ties;

WHEREAS, among the earliest agreements entered into by the Philippines and the United Kingdom during Queen Elizabeth II's reign are the "Agreement on Air Services (relating to designation of routes)" and "Philippines-United Kingdom Agreement on Air Services Between and Beyond Their Territories," which were signed and entered into force on 31 January 1955 and 31 January 1955, respectively;

WHEREAS, on 11 December 2012, the two states entered into a bilateral relationship also known as the Philippines-United Kingdom Joint Plan of Action (JPA) that serves as a framework for bilateral cooperation covering five key areas: political, economic, consular and law enforcement, cultural, and regional and global issues;

WHEREAS, in terms of foreign affairs, the United Kingdom remains a vital partner in the Mindanao peace process, being an active founding member of the International Contact Group that provided advice to both the GPH and MILF negotiating panels;

WHEREAS, the Philippines and the United Kingdom also share strong ties in education and both have manifested convergent interests in global and regional matters, particularly in counter-terrorism, interfaith work, climate change, disaster management and a strong adherence to the promotion of human rights and the rule of law;

WHEREAS, when Typhoon Haiyan devastated the country in 2013, the United Kingdom provided £77,000,000.00 of humanitarian aid, making it the largest single donor. The British public donated a further £85,000,000.00 through the Disasters Emergency Committee (DEC) appeal;

WHEREAS, on 4 August 2021 and 25 November 2021, the United Kingdom donated to the Philippines 415,040 and 3,191,040 doses of Oxford–AstraZeneca COVID-19 vaccine, respectively;

WHEREAS, the Philippine Senate joins the family of the late Queen Elizabeth II, the people of United Kingdom, and the rest of the world in grieving the death of Her Majesty;
