EXPLANATORY NOTE

Carnapping is a criminal offense that is oftentimes committed with great ease and success. In fact, the use of a stolen vehicle serves as a means of committing other crimes such as robbery, murder and kidnapping. And sadly, the current law that seeks to address carnapping proves insufficient, if not inutile.

Republic Act No. 6539 or the Anti-Carnapping Act of 1972 defines the crime of carnapping. However, the penalty prescribed therefor in relation to Section 13, Article III¹ of the Constitution, entitles an accused to post bail as a matter right. Consequently, carnapping is viewed as a less serious crime, which may be done repeatedly in the absence of immediate incarceration upon indictment and pending trial of the accused.

Albeit, there is a graduation of penalties under Section 14² of the said law, the act of carnapping per se is punishable "by imprisonment for not less than fourteen years and eight months and not more than seventeen years and four months, when the carnapping is committed without violence or intimidation of persons, or force upon things." As such, it falls short of the minimum period for reclusion perpetua, which is at least twenty years and one day, for the first requisite to deny bail as a right under the abovesited constitutional provision to be present.

¹ All persons, except those charged with offenses punishable by reclusion perpetua when evidence of guilt is strong, shall, before conviction, be bailable by sufficient sureties, or be released on recognizance as may be provided by law. The right to bail shall not be impaired even when the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus is suspended. Excessive bail shall not be required.

² Penalty for Carnapping. Any person who is found guilty of carnapping, as this term is defined in Section two of this Act, shall, irrespective of the value of motor vehicle taken, be punished by imprisonment for not less than fourteen years and eight months and not more than seventeen years and four months, when the carnapping is committed without violence or intimidation of persons, or force upon things; and by imprisonment for not less than seventeen years and four months and not more than thirty years, when the carnapping is committed by means of violence against or intimidation of any person, or force upon things; and the penalty of life imprisonment to death shall be imposed when the owner, driver or occupant of the carnapped motor vehicle is killed in the commission of the carnapping.

It is thus submitted that the penalty be increased by making twenty years and one day the minimum penalty imposable for the crime of carnapping thereby satisfying the period covered by reclusion perpetua.³

In view of the foregoing, this bill is being advanced for study and deliberation. And accordingly, its approval.

FRANCIS G. ESCUDERO
