S. No. 520

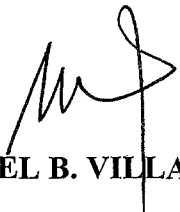

INTRODUCED BY HON. MANUEL B. VILLAR JR.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The activities of the country's lending institutions are regulated by the General Banking Law, the Central Banking Act, pertinent provisions of the New Civil Code, and such special laws as the Truth in Lending Act. In all these laws, nowhere is it provided that financial institutions and other firms engaged in the extension of credit must make credit available with fairness, impartiality and without discrimination on the basis of sex, marital status, race, creed, religion, or age.

This bill seeks to fill the gap in existing laws by requiring the country's financial institutions and other firms engaged in the extension of credit to make credit equally available to all credit-worthy customers without regard to sex, marital status, national origin, religion, or age.

A regime of equality in credit extension will enhance economic stability. It will also foster friendly competition among the various financial institutions and firms engaged in the extension of credit.
