EXPLANATORY NOTE

Election contests are part and parcel of Philippine politics. These are mechanisms that provide both parties the forum to present and rebut evidence on the outcome of an electoral exercise. This was meant by the Legislature as a safeguard against allowing a non-qualified candidate from occupying public office.

Yet this mechanism has often been the tool by some parties to frustrate the sovereign will of the electorate. More often than not, election contests drag on for years that by the time it nears resolution, the next elections for the very position under contention is just around the corner.

This legislative measure seeks to provide a time period for the resolution of election contests on municipal and barangay offices ensuring that the electorate will not be deprived of the services of their chosen representative.

Premises considered, the early passage of this legislative measure is earnestly sought.
