S. No. 2006

Introduced by Senator Juan M. Flavio

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The Employees' Compensation Law, which gives life and spirit to the Employees' Compensation Program for almost twenty eight (28) years now, had been amended by eight (8) Presidential Decrees and Executive Orders. Despite these amendments, the public and private sector employees and their beneficiaries still clamor for the revamp of the program.

Aware of the overriding need to improve the present law, the Employees' Compensation Commission (ECC) conducted a series of consultations and discussions with some multi-sectoral groups such as labor organizations, employers, concerned government agencies, non-government organizations and the general public. It has been established that the fragmented implementation of the Employees' Compensation Program (ECP) by four (4) independent agencies (ECC, GSIS, SSS and the OSHC) has resulted in, among others:

- (1) the contrasting performance and status of the two State Insurance Funds (SIFs);
- (2) the disparity and inequity in the benefits enjoyed by the public vis-à-vis private sector workers who are both beneficiaries of the same program;
- (3) the delay in the processing of EC claims due to the involvement of three agencies separately operating under their respective systems, procedures and policies;
- (4) the high administrative cost; and
- (5) the over-emphasis on the compensatory aspect of the program to the detriment of the equally important work contingency prevention program and the rehabilitation of occupationally-disabled workers (ODWs).

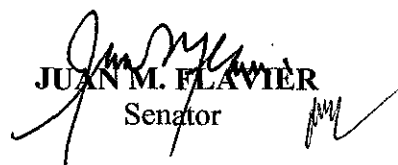

Considering that it has become necessary to introduce a new law to make it more responsive to the urgent demands of the Filipino workforce and the dynamic changes in social economic development, the bill as drafted provides:

1. A clear declaration of state policy which serves as basis for the establishment of the Workers Compensation Program;
2. A clear description of the Program and its component namely: coverage, benefits, rehabilitation of occupationally disabled workers and the work contingency prevention;

3. The setting up of a single fund from which payment of benefits shall be sourced which is now aptly and more accurately/descriptively called the work Contingency Insurance Fund (WCIF). Provisions for a more systematic collection of contributions have been included to minimize defaults in payment which partly was the reason for the present state of the public sector SIF;
4. The simplification of the benefits system to avoid confusion particularly in the grant of the primary and basic benefits under the Workers Compensation Program which is the loss-of-income benefits. More important, the concept of working life was introduced to define the extent in time to which a worker or his beneficiaries may be entitled to enjoy the loss-of-income benefits;
5. The importance now given to the corollary but equally important concerns of the Workers Compensation Program which are: (1) the rehabilitation of disabled victims of occupational diseases or work accidents; and (2) the work-contingency prevention or the minimization, if not the complete prevention of the occurrence of work accidents and occupational diseases;
6. The provision for the possible coverage of informal sector workers and the overseas Filipino workers under the program; and
7. The unified administration of the program through the proposed Philippine Workers Compensation Authority.

This bill, therefore, will put into action President Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo's and this Congress's overwhelming concern on the welfare of the working men and women of our country, recognizing that a healthy workforce will surely result in a healthy economy.

Early passage of this bill is strongly recommended.
