AN ACT
PROVIDING FOR FREE ANNUAL MEDICAL CHECK-UP FOR FILIPINOS

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The Philippines, as a state party to the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, recognizes the Right to Health as a fundamental human right. The Philippine Constitution also provides that the State shall protect and promote the right to health of the people and instill health consciousness among them. Moreover, it is also the duty of the State to adopt an integrated and comprehensive approach to health development which shall endeavor to make essential goods, health and other social services available to all the people at affordable cost.

The COVID-19 pandemic exhibited the many vulnerabilities of Filipinos, the biggest being our overall health and wellness as the disease resulted in the deaths of thousands – with most of them having various pre-existing conditions and comorbidities. What is unfortunate is that many of these conditions and comorbidities, such as coronary heart diseases or diabetes, could have been adequately addressed if these were screened early. Even prior to the pandemic, the Philippine Statistics Authority (PSA) already noted that among the top ten leading causes of death from 2015-2019 include heart diseases, pneumonia, diabetes, and hypertensive diseases.

The Department of Health (DOH) and the World Health Organization (WHO) attributed this to the “poor health-seeking behavior” of Filipinos. In fact, according to a 2018 study by Dayrit, Lagrada, et al. published by the WHO, “care-seeking behavior among Filipinos is largely dictated by the ability to pay (household income) and, because of financial constraints especially among the poor, care-seeking is often delayed. [...] Until the condition becomes serious, the patient may opt for self-care or take alternative remedies, including traditional healing.”

Hence, as Filipinos have become more cognizant of the importance of taking care of one’s health and wellness and as our government continues to roll out an efficient and equitable Universal Health Care as provided under Republic Act No. 11223 or the Universal Health Care Act, there is a need to provide another opportunity for Filipinos to be able to access preventive care without incurring additional financial burden. Through this measure, Filipinos – who are automatically members of the National Health Insurance Program (NHIP) of the Philippine Health Insurance Corporation (PhilHealth) by virtue of R.A. No. 11223 – would be able to access free annual medical check-ups which shall include blood sugar and cholesterol tests. This program, which shall be created and managed by PhilHealth, will not only help Filipinos assess their well-being and address their most immediate health concerns but also hopefully address the growing cost of healthcare in the country.

Through this policy, we are empowering Filipinos to take a more proactive stance towards their own health and, in turn, create a more health-conscious population.

In view of the foregoing reasons, the passage of this bill is earnestly sought.
