S.B. No. 2161

Introduced by SENATOR ALFREDO S. LIM

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Every year, highschool graduates join the mass of the ever growing out-of-school youth who find themselves unable to pursue higher studies. Unable not because they have no aspiration for a brighter tomorrow but because, hardship in life, penury and abject poverty had been driving them away from setting foot in institutions of higher learning.

Rizal's vision that youth is the hope of the fatherland continues to be an empty saying unless the States starts to seriously adopt a viable program on free college education that can assure our deserving and qualified youth to pursue college education.

Hence, the bill seeks to address the perennial problem of high school graduates who find themselves deprived of that opportunity to get a college education.

Free college education on courses leading to degrees in engineering, agriculture, veterinary medicine, education, computer, nursing or mass communication must be made available to all the deserving students in the fourteen (14) regions of the country.

To carry out the program, the Office of the Regional Subsidized College Education Program (ORSCEP) under the Department of Education Culture and Sports headed by the Undersecretary is created.

Although the program involves providing higher education, however, it is made an adjunct of the DECS rather than of the CHED because, the former has complete facilities, resources and manpower in all the fourteen (14) regions to assist in the successful implementation of the program, unlike the latter whose primary objective is to accredit and exercise continuing supervision on institutions engaged in collegiate education and does not have offices in all the 14 regions.

The program is envisioned to answer for the tuition, books and other expenses covering the cost of education of deserving students.

Students will be assured of constant financial assistance in form of subsistence, transportation and clothing allowances, because it is not enough that they are provided with financial help for their studies but they likewise need assistance for their sustenance and other basic needs including the medical assistance.

Upon graduation, the fortunate recipients must remain in the country and work here for even half a decade before venturing for better work opportunities in other lands. Undeniably, there is an increasing brain drain today because of growing discontent and dissatisfaction for many reasons. With an assured crop of college graduates under the program, we can provide suitable replacements to fill in the void.
