Senate Bill No. 249

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Section 16 of Article II of the 1987 Constitution provides: "The State shall protect and advance the right of the people to a balanced and healthful ecology in accord with rhythm and harmony of nature."

The development of parks and mini-parks in barangays, cities, municipalities and provinces complements the country's beautification and reforestration goals.

As pointed out by one journalist: "In every big city in the world, whether it be New York, San Francisco, Rome, London, Moscow, Canberra, etc., there is at least one big park in the middle of the city. Moscow has a small park every few blocks; every house is always within a short walking distance to a park. Aside from parks, China has a green belt surrounding every city. The streets and sidewalks are wide and shaded by trees so that even downtown areas have a park-like atmosphere. Even tiny Singapore, although short of land, has a park-like feel because every inch of available space on the sidewalks and backyards are planted to shady narra trees that came from, ironically, the Philippines."

But in Metro Manila, the only park of consequence for all the cities and towns comprising the megalopolis is in Rizal Park.

Quezon City, for all its huge sprawling area, has only the pocket-sized Quezon Memorial Park and the tiny Bernardo Park at EDSA as parks worth mentioning.

With the passage of this bill, it is hoped that more public parks can be created and enjoyed by the people.
