

FOURTEENTH CONGRESS OF THE REPUBLIC) OF THE PHILIPPINES)
First Regular Session)

SENATE
S.B. No. 1337

Introduced by Senator Miriam Defensor Santiago

EXPLANATORY NOTE

In the report, "Philippines: Torture Persists: Appearance and Reality within the Criminal Justice System," published in January 2003 by Amnesty International, it was observed that torture techniques, including electro-shocks and the use of plastic bags to suffocate detainees, were still used during arrest and custodial investigation.

Amnesty International is not the only international human rights organization which has made such comments. According to the U.S. State Department's 2001 Country Reports on Human Rights Practices, "there were serious problems in some areas. Members of the security services were responsible for extra-judicial killings, disappearances, torture, and arbitrary arrest, and detention. There were allegations by human rights groups that these problems worsened as the government sought to intensify its campaign against the terrorist group Abu Sayyaf Group (ASG)."

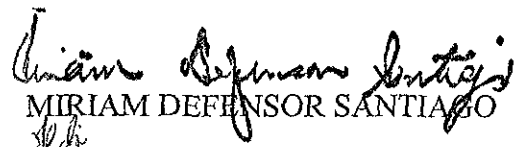

A prohibition in torture is found in the Constitution, Article 3, Section 19(2), which provides that "The employment of physical and psychological, or degrading punishment against any prisoner or detainee or the use of substandard or inadequate penal facilities under subhuman conditions shall be dealt with by law."

Furthermore, by signing and ratifying international treaties such as the International Convention on Civil and Political Rights, the Convention Against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Punishment, the Convention on the Rights of a Child, the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination Against Women, and the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, the Philippines is obligated to take effective legislative, administrative, judicial and other measures to prevent torture in any territory under its jurisdiction.

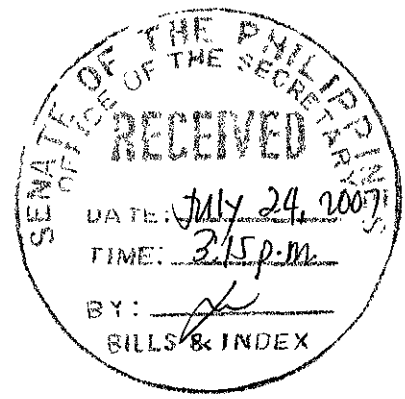

However, as observed by Amnesty International, the persistence of torture despite these legal safeguards highlights “a serious discrepancy between the law and its application within the criminal justice system.”

Under the Penal Code, charges can be filed against tortures for felonies such as mutilation, serious physical injuries, rape, and maltreatment of prisoners. Yet, there is a need for a bill which specifically criminalizes acts of torture. This is because the nature of torture is different. Torture is applied to instill fear, punish or extract confessions. It is executed under detention which effectively keeps the victims powerless; it is done by or with the acquiescence of public officers. Victims cannot avail of existing remedies for fear of reprisal; the punishment is inadequate and there are not enough mechanisms that ensure accountability. Under these circumstances, the current laws under which such offenses can be charged are inadequate.

This bill¹ seeks to: (1) penalize all forms of torture; (2) provide for protection of complainants and witnesses; (3) provide for special measures for the protection of children; and (4) provide for the establishment of a rehabilitation program.

4 declared a criminal act. No exceptional circumstances whatsoever, whether a state of war or a
5 threat of war, internal political instability, or any other public emergency, may be invoked as a
6 justification for torture.

7 Secret detention places, solitary, incommunicado or other similar forms of detention,
8 where torture may be carried on with impunity, are hereby prohibited. Any confession,
9 admission or statement obtained as a result of torture shall not be invoked as evidence in any
10 proceedings, except against a person accused of torture as evidence that the said confession,
11 admission or statement was made.

12 SECTION 5. Protection of Persons Involved in Prosecution. – Any individual who 13 alleges he has been subjected to torture shall have the right to complain to and to have his case
14 promptly and impartially examined by, any competent authorities. Steps shall be taken to ensure 15 that the complainant is protected against all ill treatment or intimidation as a consequence of his 16 complaint or any given evidence.

17 Likewise, the State through its appropriate agencies shall ensure the safety of all other
18 persons involved in the prosecution and investigation on cases of torture. They shall be protected
19 from ill-treatment and any act of intimidation or reprisal as a result of the complaint or 20 investigation. Any person committing such acts shall likewise be criminally liable.

21 SECTION 6. Assistance in Filing a Complaint. – A party who suffered torture and other
22 cruel, inhuman and degrading treatment or punishment, or any interested party on his behalf,
23 may seek legal assistance in the proper handling and filing of the complaint from the regional
24 offices of the Commission on Human Rights (CHR), the Barangay Human Rights Action Center
25 nearest his residence, as well as from human rights non-government organizations duly 26 recognized by the government.

1 SECTION 7. Right to Physical and Psychological. – Every person arrested, detained or 2 under custodial investigation shall have the right to be informed of his right to demand a physical
3 and psychological examination by an independent and competent doctor of his choice before and
4 after interrogation, which shall be conducted outside the influence of the police or security
5 forces. If such person cannot afford the services of his own doctor, he shall be provided by the 6 state with a competent and independent doctor. If the person arrested is a female, she shall be 7 provided with a female doctor. Furthermore, every person arrested, detained or under custodial 8 investigation shall have the right to immediate access to quality medical treatment.

9 SECTION 8. The Medical Report. – The medical report shall include in detail the history
10 and the findings of the physical and psychological examination and shall be attached to the 11 custodial investigation report, otherwise, such investigation report shall be deemed null and void
12 and of no effect whatsoever. Following applicable protocol agreed upon by the agencies, medical 13 reports shall, among others, include the following:

22 (H) The diagnosis, the prognosis and/or disposition of the patient.

23 Any person who does not wish to avail of the rights under this provision may knowingly
24 and voluntarily waive such rights in writing, executed in the presence and assistance of counsel.

25 SECTION 9. Special Measures for the Protection of Children. – Every person below the 26 age of eighteen (18) years shall be treated with humanity and respect for the inherent dignity of 27 the human person, and in a manner which takes into account the needs of persons of their age.

1 Steps necessary to protect the identity of the child, as well as to prevent the undue and
2 sensationalized publicity of the case shall be undertaken.

3 Every child deprived of liberty shall be confined in juvenile detention facilities separate
4 from adult offenders, unless it is considered in the child's best interest not to do so. The right of 5 the child to maintain contact with his family through correspondence and visits shall be 6 inviolable, except in exceptional, circumstances, inter alia, when the abuser is a member of the 7 child's family, etc.

8 The court may, in its discretion, upon recommendation of the Department of Social
9 Welfare and Development (DSWD) or such other agency or agencies authorized by the court,
10 release a child on recognizance, to the custody of his parents or other suitable person.

11 SECTION 10. On Refouler. – No person shall be expelled returned or extradited to 12 another State where there are substantial grounds for believing that such person would be in 13 danger of being subjected to torture.

14 For the purpose of determining whether there are such grounds, the Secretary of Foreign
15 Affairs, the Secretary of Justice, and the Commissioner of Human Rights shall take into account
16 all relevant considerations including, where applicable, the existence in the requesting State of a
17 consistent pattern of gross, flagrant or mass violations of human rights.

18 SECTION 11: Compensation to Victims of Torture. – Any person who has suffered
19 torture shall have the right to claim for compensation as provided for under Republic Act No.

10 induced others to commit any act of torture;

11 (C) Those who cooperated in the commission of any act of torture when it is within their 12 power to stop the commission of such act; and

13 (D) Those who cooperated in the execution of the act of torture by previous or 14 simultaneous acts.

15 An order from a superior officer or public authority cannot be invoked as justification for 16 taking part in the commission of any act of torture.

17 SECTION 14. Other Penalties. – Persons held guilty by final judgment of committing the 18 crime of torture beyond reasonable doubt shall also suffer perpetual disqualification from any 19 public office, whether elective or appointive, and forfeiture of all benefits and remuneration due 20 them.

21 SECTION 15. Education and Information Campaign. – The CHR, the DOJ, the 22 Department of National Defense, and such other concerned parties in both the public and private 23 sectors, shall ensure that education and information regarding the prohibition against torture shall 24 be fully included in the training of law enforcement personnel, civil or military, medical
25 personnel, public officials and other persons who may be involved in the custody, interrogation
26 or treatment of any individual subjected to any form of arrest, detention or imprisonment. The 27 Department of Education (DepEd) and the Commission on Higher Education (CHED) shall also

1 ensure the integration of human rights education in the formal curricula of all primary, secondary
2 and tertiary-level academic institutions nationwide.

3 SECTION 16. Implementing Rules and Regulations. – The CHR and the DOJ, in 4 consultation with human rights non-government organizations duly recognized by the 5 government, shall promulgate the rules and regulations for the effective implementation of this 6 Act. They shall also ensure the full dissemination of such rules and regulations to all officers and 7 members of various law enforcement agencies.

8 SECTION 17. Separability Clause. – If any provision of this Act is held invalid or 9 unconstitutional, the remainder of the Act or the provision not otherwise affected shall remain
10 valid and subsisting.

11 SECTION 18. Repealing Clause. – Any law, presidential decree or issuance, executive 12 order, letter of instruction, administrative rule or regulation contrary to or inconsistent with the 13 provisions of this Act is hereby repealed, modified or amended accordingly.

14 SECTION 19. Effectivity Clause. – This Act shall take effect fifteen (15) days after its 15 publication in at least two (2) newspapers of general circulation.

Approved,
