EXPLANATORY NOTE

The Constitution, Article XIII, Section 12, provides:

The State shall establish and maintain an effective food and drug regulatory system and undertake appropriate health manpower development and research responsive to the country's health needs and problems.

In the United States and other countries, a number of privately funded voluntary health agencies continue to research on possible treatment of dystonia. However, research on dystonia in our country remains minimal, or even negligible.

Not a single treatment has been found to be universally effective, and doctors would normally resort to therapies to reduce or eliminate muscle spasms and pain that patients suffer.

This bill seeks to aid and promote research on the causes of dystonia so that they can be prevented and that effective treatment can be found.*
