

FOURTEENTH CONGRESS OF THE REPUBLIC) OF THE PHILIPPINES)
First Regular Session)

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY

7 OCT 16 2011

SENATE
S. No. 1766

RECEIVED BY:

Introduced by Senator Miriam Defensor Santiago

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Every minute, and most often in a developing country, a woman dies from complications related to pregnancy or childbirth. That is 525,600 women, at a minimum, dying every year. And for every woman who dies, 30 to 50 women suffer injury, infection, or disease.

The Philippines has a high maternal mortality rate of 172 deaths per 100,000 live births. According to the State of the Philippine Population Report 2000, 10 Filipino women die every 24 hours from causes related to pregnancy and childbirth.

In September 2000, 189 countries at the United Nations Millennium General Assembly endorsed a series of Millennium Development Goals, one of which is the reduction of maternal mortality by 75 percent between 1990 and 2015.

To achieve this, the state must respect and uphold the right of all women to:

- make decisions about their own health, free from coercion or violence, and based on full information; and
- have access to quality services and information before, during, and after pregnancy and childbirth.

Experts from around the world now acknowledge that almost all maternal deaths could be prevented with appropriate care. The most essential intervention is to ensure that all women are cared for by a professional health worker (midwife, nurse, or doctor) with midwifery skills during the most dangerous period – during and immediately after childbirth.

Yet in the Philippines today, less than half of all deliveries take place with the assistance of a skilled birth attendant.

Experience shows, however, that the presence of skilled birth attendants needs to be part of a broader strategy, including functioning referral systems and back-up professional support.

Skilled attendants alone cannot effectively reduce maternal mortality; they need to be linked up with a larger health care system with the facilities, supplies, transport and professionals to provide emergency obstetric care when it is needed.

Since every maternal death is a family and community tragedy, the community must involve itself in maternal care and guarantee that every resident pregnant woman will have access to safe delivery services at the time of her childbirth. The state and the local government unit concerned must be held accountable for the effective delivery of adequate, affordable and appropriate health services to all their residents.*

1 SECTION 4. Responsibilities of the Barangay Captain. – It shall be the duty of the
2 Barangay Captain to ensure that every pregnant woman has access to a skilled birth attendant at
3 the time of childbirth. The Barangay Captain must carry out the following tasks:

4 (A) Draw up a master list of pregnant women in the barangay. Each pregnant woman
5 must be assisted in drawing up a birth plan which includes pertinent information such as the 6 mother’s general state of health expected due date or date of delivery, and possible blood donors.

7 (B) Ensure that there will be access to the services of a trained professional health
8 worker.

9 (C) Place transportation facilities on call upon notification that the pregnant mother has 10 gone into labor.

11 (D) Communicate with the nearest hospital or lying-in clinic that the woman is in labor.
12 Prior to this, a referral system or mechanism must be in place.

13 (E) All barangay and municipal health workers shall be placed on standby alert. Only 14 when the outcome of a safe birth transpires will all alert signals be lowered.

15 SECTION 5. Appropriations. –

16 (A) The amount necessary to carry out the provisions of this Act is hereby authorized to 17 be appropriated from the General Appropriations Act of the year following the enactment of this 18 law and every year thereafter.

19 (B) All local government units are likewise mandated to allot not less than five percent
20 (5%) of their gender and development budget for programs, projects and activities aimed to 21 support maternal health within their jurisdiction.

22 SECTION 6. Separability Clause. – If any provision of this Act is held invalid or
23 unconstitutional, the remainder of the Act or the provision not otherwise affected shall remain
24 valid and subsisting.

25 SECTION 7. Repealing Clause. – Any law, presidential decree or issuance, executive 26 order, letter of instruction, administrative rule or regulation contrary to or inconsistent with the 27 provisions of this Act is hereby repealed, modified or amended accordingly.

1 SECTION 8. Effectivity Clause. – This Act shall take effect fifteen (15) days after its
2 publication in at least two newspapers of general circulation.

3 Approved,
