

FOURTEENTH CONGRESS OF THE REPUBLIC) OF THE PHILIPPINES)
First Regular Session)

7 2011

SENATE
S. No. 1843

RECEIVED BY:

Introduced by Senator Miriam Defensor Santiago

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The equal protection clause in the Bill of Rights prescribes discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation or any other status in the enjoyment of rights. The equal protection clause, according to an eminent constitutionalist, "is the specific constitutional guarantee of the equality of the person." (J. Bernas, S.J., Constitutional Rights and Social Demands: Notes and Cases, Vol. II [1991], p. 48) This clause requires that "laws operate equally and uniformly on all persons under similar circumstances or that all persons must be treated in the same manner, the conditions not being different, both in the privileges conferred and the liabilities imposed." (J.M. Tuason and Co. v. The Land Tenure Administration, 31 SCRA 413 (1970)).

The fundamental law also declares that the State values the dignity of every human person and guarantees full respect for human rights (1987 Constitution, Article 2, Section 3). It also imposes on the State the duty to ensure the fundamental equality before the law of women and men (Sec. 14, Id.). In addition, the Philippines is a signatory to numerous international agreements that seek to ensure respect for the human rights of all persons regardless of sex, sexual orientation or any other condition.

Unfortunately, reality still has to catch up with the noble intentions of these numerous laws. Lesbians and gays continue to be oppressed by iniquitous treatment of society at large, primarily because of misconceptions and ignorance.

Hence, this bill seeks to prohibit discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation.*

MIRIAM DEFENSOR SANTIAGO

* This bill was re-filed during the Thirteenth Congress, First Regular Session.
