S. B. No. 10

RECEIVED BY

Introduced by Senator LOREN LEGARDA

EXPLANATORY NOTE

This bill seeks to provide more benefits and greater protection to teachers and non-teaching personnel all over the country by strengthening and amending certain provisions of Republic Act No. 4670 or the Magna Carta for Public School Teachers.

Teachers are indeed invaluable to our society. Their responsibility in molding the values and character of the young generation of the country cannot be overestimated. Aside from educating our children, teachers are likewise the most reliable and dedicated public servants. They are being constantly called upon by officials of the local and national governments to assist in various extra-curricular and civic activities which contribute to the welfare of the community and the country, most notable of which is when they perform their functions as members of the Board of Election Inspectors during election period, and recently, when they were called upon to assist the National Statistics Office in gathering data from households in all parts of the country, even those situated in remote areas.

As of school year 2008-2009, there are 353,280 public elementary school teachers teaching at 37,607 public elementary schools with 12,574,506 elementary school enrollees. In the same school year, the teacher-pupil ratio is 1:36. In the secondary level, there are 138,058 public secondary schools teaching at 5,359 public secondary schools with 5,421,562 secondary student enrollees. This translates to a teacher-student ratio of 1:39.

Based on Department of Labor figures, public school teachers are indeed among the lowest paid government workers considering the nature and importance of the services they render. This phenomena has thus resulted in an exodus of our competent teachers who find higher paying jobs and better terms of employment abroad.

To stress their importance to society, teachers are given substitute and special parental authority under our laws. Article 218 of the Family Code states that the school, its administrators and teachers shall have special parental authority and responsibility over the minor child while under their supervision, instruction or custody.

It is imperative therefore that to attract the most competent and efficient to the teaching profession, government must provide compensation and benefits commensurate to the work they perform and the contribution they make to the society.

This bill addresses that need by providing for security of tenure to teachers, payment of their salaries as well as those of non-teaching personnel on a monthly basis regardless of semestral or summer vacations, annual salary increase or adjustment to mitigate the effects of inflation, and other measures that will protect the rights and promote the welfare of our public school teachers. This bill also provides for gratuity benefit for teachers and non-teaching personnel who choose to retire before reaching the compulsory retirement age of 60 and have rendered not less than two (2) years service.

This proposed measure likewise guarantees their rights to self-organization and to collective bargaining in accordance with ILO Convention numbered 87 and 98. It also grants teachers and employees' organizations, whether independent or federated, the right to negotiate directly with school owners and administrations.

Furthermore, this bill mandates the formulation of a Code of Professional Conduct for the Teaching Profession to further promote the professionalization of the teaching profession and encourage unity among teachers and non-teaching personnel. Finally, this bill makes it obligatory for all schools and learning institutions offering education as a course to teach this Magna Carta as part of the course requirement.

To the teachers, the State owes absolute fidelity to the protection of their rights and the promotion of their welfare.

In view of the foregoing, the passage of this bill is earnestly sought.
