SENATE
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY

10 JUL 19 P5:19

SENATE
S. No. 1619

RECEIVED BY

Introduced by Senator Miriam Defensor Santiago

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Numerous cases of missing persons are reported everyday. Many children and adults who may have been victims of abductions, natural disasters, trafficking and other causes, have remained unfound due to lack of information and assistance. The Constitution, Article 2, Section 5 provides that:

SEC. 5. xxx the protection of life, liberty, and property, and the promotion of the general welfare are essential for the enjoyment by all people of the blessings of democracy.

Thus, the State is obligated to ensure the public's safety and institute an effective and immediate response to cases of missing persons. In the United States, it has been reported that one in six missing children are recovered as a direct result of someone recognizing their photo on an electronic public database and notifying authorities.

This bill seeks to create the first national repository for missing persons and unidentified decedent records. The database will be readily accessible through the internet.

The internet can become a valuable tool in the search for missing persons. Its speed in information dissemination is incomparable. Its capacity to store vast amounts of digital records is an ideal way to manage the volume of files that are anticipated in these cases.

Through this tool, the Department of Justice shall be able to assist families, law enforcement agencies, medical examiners and coroners, victim advocates, and the general public in solving these cases.
