S. No. 1734

RECEIVED BY

Introduced by Senator Miriam Defensor Santiago

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The Constitution, Article 16, Section 9 states that:

The State shall protect consumers from trade malpractices and from substandard or hazardous products.

A "lemon" is a term used to describe a defective car that is found to have numerous or severe defects not readily apparent before its purchase. Such a defect substantially impairs its use, value, or safety. If the car has been repaired four or more times for the same defect within the warranty period and the defect has not been fixed, the car qualifies as a lemon. The United States has several federal and state laws called "lemon laws," to protect consumers. Lemon laws provide a remedy for purchasers of cars that repeatedly fail to meet standards of quality and performance.

In the Philippines, the purchase of a new car usually carries a manufacturer's warranty. On the other hand, vendors of used cars do not usually issue any express warranty. A "used car", also known as a pre-owned vehicle and second hand car, is a vehicle that has previously had one or more owners. Used cars are usually sold through car dealers, leasing companies, auctions and private party sales.

Since brand new cars are still considered prohibitive for the middle class, many resort to purchasing used cars. Unfortunately, without mechanical expertise, buyers cannot easily distinguish which used cars have defects. Vendors are not required to disclose the history of the cars they sell. Thus, many used cars though seemingly in good running condition, could have been improperly maintained or poorly repaired, been unprofessionally rebuilt after a collision or tampered with in some manner to conceal high mileage, mechanical defects, corrosion or other damage. For example, many vendors of cars that have undergone a flood do not disclose such information to their buyers.

This bill seeks to protect consumers who buy used vehicles from a dealer or private party. It requires dealers to provide consumers with a written warranty against defects that impair the vehicle's use or safety, and requires private parties to disclose any known use or safety defects.

Dealer warranties cannot be waived under any circumstances. The dealer must give a signed, dated, correct copy of the limited used vehicle warranty at the time you purchase the vehicle. The warranty requires the dealer to repair any defect that impairs the vehicle's use or safety. The coverage depends on the mileage of the vehicle at the time of purchase as outlined below:

Mileage	Warranty Period
Less than 64,500 km.	90 days or 6,035 km., whichever comes first
64,500 to 128,746 km.	60 days or 4,023 km., whichever comes first
128,747 to 201,167 km	30 days or 2,012 km., whichever comes first
201,168 km. or over	No express warranty

If the true mileage of the vehicle is unknown at the time of the sale, the warranty period is calculated according to the age of the vehicle as outlined below:

Age of Vehicle	Warranty Period
3 years old or less	90 days or 6,035 km., whichever comes first
More than 3 and less than 6 years old	60 days or 4,023 km., whichever comes first
More than 6 years old	30 days or 2,012 km., whichever comes first

Though our country allows private enterprises and individuals to enter into contracts freely, the state should come in when necessary to protect the interests of the consumer, promote his general welfare and establish standards of conduct for business and industry.¹

25 defect complained of is not in the dealer's possession; provided, however, that the dealer has 26 ordered the part by reasonable means on the same day on which he knew or should have known
27 that the part was necessary, except that in no event shall a part's unavailability operate to toll the

5 for use. A reasonable allowance for use shall be fifteen cents for each mile the used motor 6 vehicle had been operated between its sale and the dealer's repurchase.

7 If the dealer is required to or elects to repurchase a vehicle under the terms of this section,
8 the consumer and dealer shall cooperate with each other to execute all necessary documents in 9 order to clear the title of any encumbrances on the repurchased vehicle.

10 SECTION 8. Private sellers. — A private seller shall clearly disclose to any prospective
11 buyer, before the sale is completed, all defects the seller knows of which impair the used motor
12 vehicle's safety or substantially impair its use. Failure to so disclose known defects shall entitle
13 the buyer, within thirty days after the sale, to rescind the sale and be entitled to return of all
14 monies paid to the seller less a reasonable amount for use as defined in clause (iv) of paragraph
15 (A) subsection (3). A reasonable allowance for use shall be ten pesos per kilometer the motor 16 vehicle had been operated between its sale and the seller's repurchase.

17 In any subsequent action by a buyer under this section, it shall be an affirmative defense
18 in any such action that an alleged defect does not impair the vehicle's safety, or substantially
19 impair its use, or that it is the result of the buyer's negligence, abuse, damage caused by accident,
20 vandalism or attempt to modify the vehicle.

21 SECTION 9. Implementing Agency and its duties. — The DTI Secretary shall, within
