EXPLANATORY NOTE

The Constitution, Article 11, Section 17 provides:

Section 17. The State shall give priority to education, science and technology, arts, culture and sport to foster patriotism and nationalism, accelerate social progress, and promote total human liberation and development.

Local businesses can play a key role in moving technology into schools, enhancing educators' technology capabilities, and making every student technologically literate. Educational technologies help children learn and teachers teach. Students who learn to use educational technologies are prepared for both high wage high skilled jobs and higher education. In order to encourage businesses to help schools provide educational technologies, this bill seeks to establish a program that will give national recognition to businesses, which show an exemplary commitment to participating with schools to make every student technologically literate.*
