Explanatory Note

The tasks of creating a comprehensive program to prevent and suppress trafficking in persons, coordinating its implementation by various government agencies and of monitoring and overseeing the strict implementation of Republic Act No. 9208 otherwise known as the Anti-Trafficking in Persons Act of 2003, has been placed by the law on the Inter-Agency Council Against Trafficking or IACAT<sup>1</sup>.

However, instead of providing direct funding for the IACAT, the law merely created a trust fund into which all fines as well as proceeds and properties forfeited under RA No. 9208 are supposed to be accumulated to be used exclusively for programs that will prevent acts of trafficking and protect, rehabilitate, reintegrate trafficked persons into the mainstream of society<sup>2</sup>, and directed all participating agencies to include any project they may have under the law in their department's annual budget for inclusion in the annual General Appropriations Act<sup>3</sup>.

Considering the growing number of trafficking cases and the number of victims who need the support and assistance of the IACAT, this mode of funding is hardly sufficient to meet the challenges of the times. Moreover, funds from fines and forfeitures imposed by RA No. 9208 are slow in coming and no significant increase in the rate of the accumulation of said fund is expected in the near future.

Hence, there is an imperative necessity to provide additional and substantial funding for the IACAT if we are to expect it to do its job. Moreover, there is an imperative necessity of creating a permanent secretariat not only to manage the activities of the IACAT but also to provide for the continuity of plans and programs and to ensure that institutional memory is retained in the fight against human trafficking.

It is time to “put our money where our mouth is”, so to speak. While the Government has been singing praises to our Overseas Filipino Workers (OFWs) as our “Bagong Bayani” or our modern day heroes, it has not sufficiently funded the inter-agency council tasked with the duty and function of preventing and protecting them from the menace of human trafficking.

This Bill aims not only to create a permanent secretariat for the IACAT but also to provide additional substantial funding intended to support the IACAT and to shore-up its capacities and capabilities in order to be able to meet the growing challenges of the times, especially in the light of the ongoing global financial crisis.

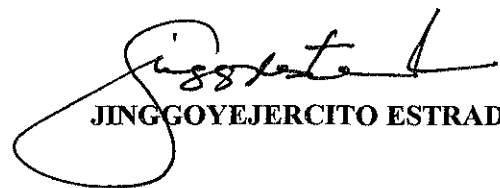

The immediate passage of this Bill is earnestly enjoined.
