S.B. No. 3244

Introduced by Senator EDGARDO J. ANGARA

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The country's enduring commitment to international efforts mitigating the adverse effects caused by war can be traced back to the post-World War II era, when the Philippines proclaimed its adherence to the 1864 Geneva Conventions on February 14, 1947.

In this diplomatic conference held in Geneva, Switzerland, an internationally recognized humanitarian symbol was born -- the Red Cross. This internationally recognized emblem is purposely used to protect humanitarian workers, vehicles and medical facilities in times of armed conflict and other situations of violence, and identify the members of the Movement.

It then only took two months for the country to establish its National Red Cross (PNRC) through promulgation of Republic Act No. 95 in 1947.

Also, the Philippines joined 193 other nations that have ratified or adhered to the Four Geneva Conventions of August 12, 1949, making it the most widely accepted and recognized treaty in the world. It was ratified by the country in 1952.

The Philippines has likewise ratified the 1977 Additional Protocol II and the 2005 Additional Protocol III. It has signed but not yet ratified the 1977 Additional Protocol. While this treaty has yet to be ratified, it does not bar the country's legislature from adopting certain provisions thereof as part of our national legislation including those governing the use and protection of the emblem of the Red Cross or Red Crescent.

In view of the Philippines' obligation to take measures to prevent any misuse of the emblem and uphold international humanitarian efforts, a stricter and broader national legislative regime should be put in place.

Thus, the provisions of this bill seek to define the use and protection of the Red Cross, Red Crescent and Red Crystal emblems, to wit:

- Defining the emblems' use:

Protective Use – The emblem used as a protective device during armed conflict is the visible sign of the protection conferred by the Geneva Conventions and their Additional Protocols on medical personnel and medical units and transports in time of armed conflict.

Indicative Use – The emblem shows that a person or an object is linked to an institution of the International Movement of the Red Cross and Red Crescent.

- The bill also penalizes misuse of the Red Cross, the Red Crescent or the Red Crystal emblem as an Indicative Device in Peacetime and In Time of Armed Conflict.

The approval of this bill is earnestly sought.
