EXPLANATORY NOTE

According to Article II, Section 16 of the 1987 Constitution:

“The State shall protect and advance the right of the people to a balanced and healthful ecology in accord with the rhythm and harmony of nature. “

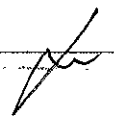

Sustained sounds exceeding 100 decibels (dB) can cause permanent hearing damage in humans. In addition to the obvious unwanted effect of hearing loss, noise can cause other health issues as well. It increases blood pressure, has negative cardiovascular effects such as changing the way the heart beats, increases breathing rate, disturbs digestion, can cause an upset stomach or ulcer, can negatively impact a developing fetus, perhaps contributing to premature birth, and makes it difficult to sleep, even after the noise stops.

These are preventable health risks which this legislation seeks to address.
