OF THE PHILIPPINES)

SENATE
S.B. No. 3483

RECEIVED BY

Introduced by Senator Miriam Defensor Santiago

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The Constitution, Article 2, Section 16 states:

The State shall protect and advance the right of the people to a balanced and healthful ecology in accord with the rhythm and harmony of nature.

Standard land development can drastically alter waterways. When development occurs, the alteration to the land can lead to dramatic changes to the hydrological properties of the area, or the way water is transported and stored. This disruption in the natural water cycle leads to increased frequency and severity of flooding, among others. Rivers, brooks, creeks and similar waterways act as natural canals so that excess water do not accumulate in a particular place; while marshes and swamps act like sponges, absorbing excess water from surrounding environs. These waterways should be protected so that flooding will be prevented.
