Explanatory Note

Under Republic Act No. 53, members of the press (i.e., print media) enjoy protection from being compelled to reveal their sources except in cases involving national security, as determined by the courts or any Committee of the Senate or the House of Representatives.

Because of advances in broadcast and communications technology, there is no doubt that members of the broadcast media (i.e., radio and television reporters, commentators, talk show hosts, internet reporters, bloggers, etc.), now play an equally important role in the dissemination of news and as well as in shaping public opinion and public policy, not to mention in exposing corruption and anomalies in government.

Hence, it is imperative that the protection enjoyed by members of the print media be extended also to broadcast media practitioners.

In view of the foregoing, approval of this measure is earnestly sought.
