S.B. No. 949

Introduced by HON. RAMON BONG REVILLA, JR.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

When Republic Act 8187 was enacted, the primary consideration of the framers of this law is to enable the husband to effectively render support, care and assistance to the wife in her period of recovery and/or in the nursing of the newly born child.

However, RA 8187 limits the entitlement of this law to the first four deliveries of the wife. This bill seeks to amend the existing law by repealing said provision and thus, allowing the husband to avail of the said benefit in all the deliveries of the wife. This is in recognition to the vital role of the husband in assisting the wife during her post-delivery condition. Moreover, it is just logical that if there are more children the couple begot, the wife needs more the helping hand of the husband to take care and look out to the other children.

Approval of this bill is earnestly recommended.
