EXPLANATORY NOTE

This measure proposes an ecotourism policy that would lay down a tourism framework based on a well-crafted balance between economic growth and environmental protection. It creates the National Ecotourism Commission which shall formulate and implement a master plan with the assistance of the Department of Tourism and the Department of Environment and Natural Resources. A network of ecotourism sites shall likewise be established, which will include but not to limited to those sites already covered by the National Integrated Protected Areas System under R.A. No. 7586.

The role of the local communities, including the indigenous cultural communities, as stewards of ecotourism is mandated, not only because they will benefit from the profits generated from the activities to be implemented pursuant thereof.

The richness of our resources could only be optimally utilized if they are best protected. Tourism would yield the most profits if it ensures the primacy of the environment and the preservation of the culture of our people. It is high time that we reorient our tourism goals towards a sustainable type of tourism before nothing else would be left of us.

Approval of this bill is therefore sincerely sought.
