SENATE OF THE PHILIPPINES) SIXTEENTH CONGRESS)
First Regular Session

RECEIVED BY *jiSENATESenate Bill No. 1904

Introduced by SENATOR JOSEPH VICTOR G. EJERCITO

EXPLANATORY NOTE

There is an urgent need to save the Party-list system.

In the past Congresses since the Party-list system was instituted, the issue of whether the party-list system is for the marginalized and underrepresented remained the main issue until the Supreme Court decision in Bayan Muna vs. COMELEC (in that consolidated case the Court dismissed the petition in "Bagong Bayani vs. COMELEC"). In that case, the Supreme Court declared that only those who belong to the marginalized and underrepresented shall be allowed in the party-list election.

But despite the said ruling, the Commission on Elections reversed in effect the Supreme Court when it allowed nominees to run for the party-list elections as long as s/he is a member of a supposed marginalized and underrepresented group at least "ninety days" before the party-list elections.

The number of party-list representatives has come close to 20% of the total number of members of the House in the 15th Congress, and the growing concern then was the entry of party-lists and nominees that are not TRULY representatives of the marginalized and underrepresented but are coming from powerful economic and political interests. The impact of the entry of those who do not belong to the marginalized and underrepresented is disastrous because like a raging tsunami it practically obliterated the constitutional intent of reserving 20% of the seats in Congress for the party-list system by allowing those who form part of the 80% to also invade the constitutionally secured seats of the already underrepresented. It also closed off the venue for the expression of the voice and interest of the poor and the already underrepresented. Changes have to be made to make sure that the COMELEC can no longer interfere with what the Constitution and Congress mandates.

Very recently the decision of the Supreme Court in the Paglaom v. COMELEC completely overturned the novel idea of the Party-list system reserving a portion of Congress for the marginalized and underrepresented. The decision stating that “party-list groups need not be marginalized to participate in the Party-list System” practically opened wide the floodgates for the rich and the powerful elites to freely participate in the Party-list elections thereby further limiting, or even obliterating, the only space for the poor and underrepresented sectors to become active participants in legislation and in crafting laws that will benefit their sectors.

The main purpose of this Bill is to address this violation of the constitutional and statutory intent for the party-list system by the amendment of the Party-List System Act. It proposes to provide eligibility requirements and set up mechanisms to democratize the party-list system in order to secure, what the Congress and the Constitution sought to protect.

This bill proposes that:

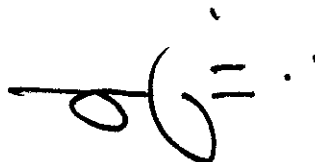

1. The intent and purpose of the Constitution to reserve twenty (20) percent of the House of Representatives for the marginalized sectors be strictly complied with. The party-list system must be reserved exclusively for the marginalized and under-represented sectors of society by adopting certain specific measures to implement the intent of both RA 7941 and the Constitution as defined in the Supreme Court’s decisions in Bayan Muna vs. COMELEC et al. (G.R. No.147613, June 26, 2001), and Ang Bagong Bayani-OFW Labor Party vs. COMELEC et al. (G.R. No.147589, June 26, 2001) and recently reiterated in the 2010 case of Bayan Muna vs. Comelec (G.R. No. 179295) also known as Banat vs. Comelec. Additional criteria for nominees should be also enforced for a stricter compliance with the intent of the Constitution regarding Party-List representation.

2. The appropriate decision-making body of a party-list group be given the power to recall its representatives for violation of any provision of the party-list's governing charter.

3. The nomination of party-list representatives be done by the highest policy-making body of the party-list group. This will enable its membership to democratically choose their nominees.

In view of the foregoing, immediate passage of this bill is therefore earnestly sought.
