SENATE

s. No. 923

RIE

Introduced by Senator Ralph G. Recto

AN ACT

LOWERING THE TAX RATE ON CAPITAL GAINS FROM THE SALE, EXCHANGE OR OTHER DISPOSITION OF REAL PROPERTY, AMENDING FOR THE PURPOSE SECTIONS 24 (D) (1) AND 27 (D) (5) OF REPUBLIC ACT NO. 8424, OTHERWISE KNOWN AS THE NATIONAL INTERNAL REVENUE CODE OF 1997, AS AMENDED, AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES

Explanatory Note

Transferring of land titles in the Philippines can be a cumbersome exercise. There are too many factors to consider such as the payment of applicable national and local taxes and not to mention the usual delays in transacting with different government agencies. With respect to national taxes, if the subject property is a capital asset, the seller must first file before the Bureau of Internal Revenue (BIR) the appropriate tax returns and pay the capital gains tax and documentary stamp tax. As for local taxes, the seller has to pay a local transfer tax before the local government unit where the property is located. I

At present, the Tax Code imposes a six percent (6%) capital gains tax (CGT) on individual taxpayers on the sale, exchange or other disposition of real property based on the gross selling price or current fair market value, whichever is higher.<sup>2</sup> On the other hand, a corporation selling a land or building, which is not actually used in the business of the said corporation and is treated as a capital asset, is imposed with the same CGT rate as individuals. Among all the taxes that must be settled before a title to a real property may be transferred, including the local transfer tax, the CGT rate is the highest.

Most of the time, cash-strapped individual sellers including corporations have to settle to a lower selling price in order to entice a buyer into purchasing their landholding thereby diminishing the real value of their real property investment. Moreover, individuals or corporations planning on expanding their businesses will have to shell out a huge portion from their capital for the purpose of acquiring real property in order to pay the CGT and other taxes.

To keep up with today's fast-paced economy and to ease the tax burden on the individual as well as corporate taxpayers, this bill seeks to reduce the CGT rate from the current rate of six percent (6%) to three percent (3%). With this amendment, individual taxpayers may find it easier and cheaper to sell their properties since the CGT rate will be cut in half. Furthermore, this amendment will allow businesses to expand since acquisition of land will now become less costly.

In view of the foregoing, immediate passage of this bill is earnestly sought.
