SENATE
S. No. 926

REC'D BY:

Introduced by Senator Ralph G. Recto

AN ACT
ESTABLISHING LESBIAN, GAY, BISEXUAL, AND TRANSGENDER (LBGT)
HELP AND PROTECTION DESKS IN ALL PHILIPPINE NATIONAL POLICE STATIONS NATIONWIDE, AMENDING FOR THE PURPOSE TITLE VII OF REPUBLIC ACT NUMBER 8551, AS AMENDED, OTHERWISE KNOWN AS THE
"PHILIPPINE NATIONAL POLICE REFORM AND REORGANIZATION ACT OF 1998," AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES

Explanatory Note

Section 11 Article II of the 1987 Constitution mandates the State to value the dignity of every human person and guarantee full respect for human rights. Such commitment to human rights has been upheld through signing and acceding to a number of significant international treaties concerning human rights<sup>1</sup>.

Yet despite this commitment, the Philippines has yet to affirm the rights of Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgender individuals (LGBT) or guarantee the protection of LGBTs from discrimination and violence on the account of gender identity and expression. The Philippines did not express support for the United Nations Human Rights Council joint statements made in December 2006 and March 2011 which called on States to take steps to end acts of violence, criminal sanctions and related human rights violations committed against individuals because of their sexual orientation or gender identity, among others<sup>2</sup>.

Back home, many LGBTs became moving targets for discrimination and violence that affect their economic, social and physiological well-being. Yet in spite of this reality, there is an absence of government mechanism or intervention directed to monitor, let alone address, the incidents of discrimination, prejudice and even violence against the Filipino LGBT community. Because of this, many LGBT victims opt not to report the incident for fear of further harassment, prejudicial treatment, or more violent reprisal.

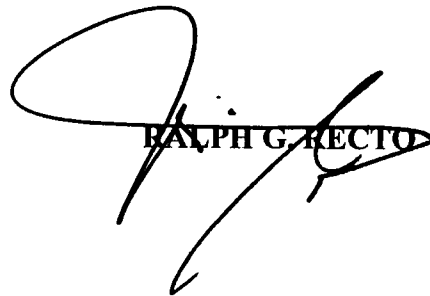

<sup>1</sup> These international treaties and conventions include the following: International Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Racial Discrimination of 1969, International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights of 1976, International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights of 1976, Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women of 1981, Convention against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment of 1987, Convention on the Rights of the Child of 1990, International Convention on the Protection of the Rights of All Migrant Workers and Members of their Families of 2003 and Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities of 2008.

United Nations' Human Rights Council. (2011 March 22). Joint Statement Ending Acts of Violence and Related Human Rights Violations Based on Sexual Orientation and Gender Identity. Geneva: Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights.

The Philippines should not condone an environment where the LGBT community is “treated with contempt and violence by their fellow citizens while authorities empowered to protect them look the other way or, too often, even join in the abuse<sup>3</sup>.” This bill seeks to correct this onerous predicament by establishing LGBT help and protection desks in all Philippine National Police (PNP) stations nationwide. These dedicated desks shall act on all cases involving crimes against chastity, sexual harassment, and abuses committed against LGBTs in the Philippines. To complement this help desk, the PNP is tasked to ensure the gender neutrality of its human resource processes, from the recruitment and selection to the promotion and deployment of police officers. Ultimately, this bill seeks to create a police organization that is able and eager to respond to any criminal or emergency incident, regardless of the gender orientation of the people involved.

In view of the foregoing, the swift passage of the proposed measure is earnestly sought.
