SENATE
S.B. No. 1589

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The Constitution, Article XI, Section 17 provides that "A public officer or employee shall upon assumption of office and as often thereafter as may be required by law, submit a declaration under oath of his assets, liabilities and net worth. In the case of the President, Vice-President, the Members of the Cabinet, the Congress, the Supreme Court, the Constitutional Commissions and other constitutional offices, and officers of the armed forces with general or flag rank, the declaration shall be disclosed to the public in the manner provided by law."

In complying with this constitutional provision under the enabling law, Republic Act No. 6713, many public officials complacently submit statements of assets, liabilities and net worth which are very low and which do not reflect their actual wealth. Often times this Act is intended to hide ill-gotten wealth. The common practice is to place an asset in the name of a dummy, who is usually a close relative of the public official.

This bill seeks to remedy this prevalent corrupt practice by imposing penalty by removal from public office on a public official who places any of his/her assets in the name of dummies. A public official who does so shall forfeit all his rights to the property in favor of the dummy. Public officials shall also be prohibited from acquiring any property from a relative within the fifth civil degree of consanguinity while holding public office and within ten years from the time he/she left the civil service. This may be an effective way of punishing the public official for his deviousness.
