AN ACT
AMENDING SECTION 58 OF REPUBLIC ACT NO. 8551, OTHERWISE KNOWN AS "THE PHILIPPINE NATIONAL POLICE REFORM AND REORGANIZATION ACT OF 1998",
APPROPRIATING FUNDS THEREFOR AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Section 14 of Article II of the 1987 Constitution acknowledges the role of women in nation-building.

In 2009, Republic Act No. 9710, or the Magna Carta of Women, was enacted into law which seeks to eliminate discrimination against women by recognizing, protecting, fulfilling and promoting the rights of Filipino women. One of the rights spelled out was the right of a woman to equal treatment of the law.

To date, there are still a number of existing laws discriminatory to women.

One example is Section 58 of Republic Act No. 8551 or the Philippine National Police Reform and Reorganization Act which mandates that "[t]he PNP shall reserve ten percent (10%) of its annual recruitment, training, and education quota for women [who shall serve in the women's desks]".

This provision runs contrary to Section 9 (a) of the Magna Carta of Women which expressly states:

"Section 9. Protection from Violence. – xxx

a. Within the next five (5) years, there shall be an incremental increase in the recruitment and training of women in the police force, forensics and medico-legal, legal services, and social work services availed of by women who are victims of gender-related offenses until fifty percent

(50%) of the personnel thereof shall be women..." (Emphasis supplied).

To address this gap, we should rectify that provision of R.A. No. 8551 and align it with our commitments in the Magna Carta of Women.

In addition and in the wake of reports of abuses by male officers against women and children in police custody, it is important that there is an increase in women's representation in the police force which hopefully will result in a more responsive and committed police force towards preventing violations and abuses of women's rights.

As a signatory to the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination Against Women, the Philippines is obliged to take appropriate measures, including legislation, so that every Filipino woman can enjoy her human rights and fundamental freedoms, without discrimination.

For the above reasons, the passage of this measure is earnestly sought.
