RECEIVED

AN ACT
REQUIRING USED CAR DEALERS TO PROVIDE CONSUMERS WITH A WRITTEN WARRANTY AGAINST DEFECTS AND REQUIRING PRIVATE SELLERS TO DISCLOSE ANY KNOWN USE OR SAFETY DEFECTS

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Article 16, Section 9 of the 1987 Philippine Constitution states that: "The State shall protect consumers from the trade malpractices and from substandard or hazardous products".

In the recently passed Philippine Lemon Law¹, the State declared as policy the promotion and full protection of the rights of consumers in the sale of motor vehicles against business and trade practices which are deceptive, unfair or otherwise inimical to consumers and the public interest.

The State recognized that a motor vehicle is a major consumer purchase investment. Hence, the rights of consumers should be clearly defined, including the means of redress for violations thereof.

In the Philippines, the purchase of a new car usually carries a manufacturer's warranty. On the other hand, vendors of used cars do not usually issue any express warranty. While the new Philippine Lemon Law protects buyers of brand new cars, it's far more common for used-car buyers to get stuck with used-car with defects. A "used car", also known as a pre-owned vehicle and second-hand car, is a vehicle that previously had one or more owners. Used cars are usually sold through car dealers, leasing companies, auctions and private party sales.

Since brand new cars are still considered prohibitive for the middle class, many resort to purchasing used cars. Unfortunately, without mechanical expertise, buyers cannot easily distinguish which used cars have defects. Vendors are not required to disclose the history of the cars they sell. Thus, many used cars through seemingly in good running condition, could have been improperly maintained or poorly repaired, been unprofessionally rebuilt after a collision or tampered with in some manner to conceal high mileage, mechanical defects, corrosion or other damage. Some of these used lemons are even sold fraudulently, preying on the most vulnerable low-income car purchasers of the population.

This bill seeks to protect consumers who bought used vehicles from a dealer or private party. It requires dealers to provide consumers with a written warranty against defects that impair the vehicle's use or safety, and requires private parties to disclose any known use or safety defects.

Dealer warranties cannot be waived under any circumstances. The dealer must give a signed, dated, correct copy of the limited used vehicle warranty at the time of purchase of the vehicle. The warranty requires the dealer to repair any defect that impairs the vehicle's use or safety. The coverage depends on the mileage of the vehicle at the time of purchase as outlined below:

Mileage	Warranty Period
Less than 64,500 km.	90 days or 6,035 km., whichever comes first
64,500 to 128,746 km.	60 days or 4,023 km., whichever comes first
128,747 to 201,167 km.	30 days or 2,012 km., whichever comes first
201,168 km. or over	No express warranty

If the true mileage of the vehicle is unknown at the time of the sale, the warranty period is calculated according to the age of the vehicles as outlined below:

Age of Vehicle	Warranty Period
3 years old or less	90 days or 6,035 km., whichever comes first
More than 3 and less than 6 years old	60 days or 4,023 km., whichever comes first
More than 6 years old	30 days or 2,012 km., whichever comes first

Though our country allows private enterprises and individuals to enter into contracts freely, the state should come in when necessary to protect the interests of the consumer, promote his general welfare and establish standards of conduct for business and industry.²

Foregoing considered, immediate passage of this Bill is sought.

RAMON BONG REVILLA, JR.
