S. No. 2179

Introduced by SENATOR RAMON BONG REVILLA, JR.

AN ACT
TO PROVIDE EATING DISORDERS AWARENESS, PREVENTION, AND EDUCATION AMONG ELEMENTARY, SECONDARY AND COLLEGE STUDENTS, THEIR PARENTS AND GUARDIANS

EXPLANATORY NOTE

With heavy consumption of social media nowadays, many adolescents and youth, especially females, have become prone to developing unhealthy concerns about their body image, weight and shape, and in the long run, cultivated body dissatisfaction, negative self-image and low self-esteem. Amid the prevalent notion of being thin as being healthy and attractive, some would resort to extreme dieting and harmful eating behaviors.

While this is a simplistic view of eating disorders which are triggered by a myriad of risk factors – biological/genetic, environmental, psychological and emotional – these conditions are serious health issues and potentially life threatening. For instance, anorexia nervosa (an eating disorder characterized by self-starvation, severe food restrictions, and excessive weight loss) has numerous complications such as anemia, bone and muscle loss, heart failure, gastrointestinal and kidney problems, among others, and could lead to death at its most severe¹.

Considering the impact of these eating disorders to our youth, this bill seeks to provide awareness and education to students at all levels, as well as to their parents and guardians. It also mandates the Department of Health, the Department of Education and the Commission on Higher Education to work together and provide programs which shall improve the identification of students with eating disorders and train educators and school personnel on eating disorder prevention and assistance methods. Lastly, this measure requires the same agencies to conduct a study to determine the prevalence of eating disorders among students and their effects on the educational advancement and achievement.

The immediate passage of this bill is sought.
