SENATE
Senate Bill No. 172

RECEIVED BY:

Introduced by Sen. M.A. Madrigal

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Siargao Islands Protected Landscape and Seascape (SIPLAS) is composed of the islands of Siargao and Bucas Grande, with the surrounding islets, located in the Province of Surigao del Norte northeastern Mindanao, CAWGA Region. It is bounded on the north by Surigao Strait, on the south by the mainland part of the Province of Surigao del Norte, on the east by Philippine Sea, and on the west by Hinatuan Passage.

The SIPLAS boasts of having the largest contiguous mangrove stand in the Philippines with an area of approximately 4,000 hectares. The overall mangrove cover of SIPLAS is approximately 8,600 hectares. The vastness of the mangrove cover provides for a good habitat for the crocodile of the species Crocodylus Porosus, which still exists in adequate number compared to other places in the country. The most striking physiographic feature of SIPLAS is the limestone areas which display a typical karst terrain of haystack hills similar to the Chocolate Hills of Bohol and El Nido in Palawan.

SIPLAS also serves as sanctuary to several rare and endangered wildlife. There are eighty-five (85) bird species at sixty-five percent (65%) endemism, nine (9) amphibians, and twenty-one (21) mammals.

One species of birds, the Philippine Cockatoo, is listed as critical while five (5) fauna species, which are the green sea turtle (Chelonia Mydas), hawksbill turtle (Eretmochelys Imbricata), Dinagat Gymnure, golden crown flying fox and olive ridley turtle are listed endangered. Dugong (Dugong Dugong), a globally endangered species, is also present within the area. SIPLAS forest is home to the important and rare Philippine ironwood or "mancono" (Xanthosthemum Verdugonianum) which is the hardest known species of wood.

Almost half of the plants found in SIPLAS are found only in the Philippines.

Due to its biodiversity and ecological significance, SIPLAS was declared a protected area on 10 October 1996 through Presidential Proclamation No. 902.

In line with the State's policy of securing for the Filipino people of present and future generations the perpetual existence of all native plants and animals, it is incumbent upon the Congress to enact a law to provide for the management, protection, sustainable development and rehabilitation of SIPLAS. This shall be established within the framework of the National Integrated Protected Area System (NIPAS) Act, or Republic Act of 7586, while considering the welfare and recognizing the rights of all the communities living therein especially the indigenous peoples.

Passage of this Bill is thus urgent before the treasures of Siargao Islands are lost to the Philippines and the world.
