SENATE
S.B. No. 269

RECEIVED BY:

Introduced by Senator Loren Legarda

EXPLANATORY NOTE

This bill seeks to exempt senior citizens from paying the final 20% withholding tax on interest income from bank deposits to enable our elderly to fully utilize their savings.

Section 4, Article XV of the 1987 Philippine Constitution states that the family has the duty to care for its elderly members but the State may also do so through juts programs of social security.

Pursuant to this policy, Republic Act No. 7432 also known as the "Senior Citizens Act" and Republic Act No. 9257 also known as "Expanded Senior Citizens Act of 2003" were enacted to grant benefits and special privileges to the elderly as recognition of their significant role and contribution in society. Under these laws, senior citizens are exempted from the payment of individual income taxes, provided that their annual taxable income does not exceed the poverty level as determined by the National Economic Development Authority (NEDA) for that year.

However, this exemption does not include exemption from payment of the final 20% tax on interest income from bank deposits under the National Internal Revenue Code. This failure derives most of senior citizens a substantial portion of their income from the interest earnings on their life savings and retirement benefits deposited in banks.

This bill aims to remedy that loophole by explicitly providing for such exemption, subject to certain conditions imposed by law.

The State should be liberal in granting benefits to our elderly, who make up about 6.4 percent or 5.2 million, of the population. This as much we owe to them for devoting their productive years in the service of our nation.

In view of the foregoing, immediate passage of this bill is earnestly sought.
