S.B. No. 613

Introduced by Sen. Jinggoy Ejercito Estrada

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The Constitution guarantees our workers with a decent wage. This promise, however, has remained elusive for the great majority of the country's workforce because their real salaries and wages have significantly shrunk due to inflation and the depreciation of the Peso.

The Labor Code was amended by RA 6727 creating the National Wages and Productivity Commission and the Regional Tripartite Wages and Productivity Boards allowing for the determination and fixing of minimum wage rates applicable to the various regions, provinces or industries therein.

Article 123 of the Labor Code provides that, whenever conditions in the region so warrant, the Regional Board shall investigate and study all pertinent facts; and based on the standards and criteria herein prescribed, shall proceed to determine whether a Wage Order should be issued.

However, the labor sector has often criticized the Regional Boards for their delayed reaction to the conditions of their respective regions, and their slow action on petitions for minimum wage increase, so much so that the labor sector is now demanding that Congress reverts back to the old system of legislated wage increases.

This bill addresses the plight of the working class by bringing them closer to the State's assurance of a decent wage.

Hence, early passage of this bill is fervently sought.
